Promising Artists in Recovery (PAIR) workshops are provided to teens in recovery. These workshops offer an opportunity for probation youth and youth in treatment to gain a positive experience working with local community artists. Parents are invited to attend with youth participants for a workshop orientation and reception. Juvenile Probation Services (JPS) has the right of possession and an exclusive and non-transferable license at this time to use the art work in conducting the PAIR program for a period of one year. JPS will also seek venues to display/exhibit the youth artists work. At the end of the one year period, the art work may be retrieved by the youth artist. Henri Wilson, Program Coordinator, can be reached at 425-293-4407.

A copy of this referral form should be given to the youth and Mike Irons
